(a) and (b) Yes Madam. The Government of India implements flagship schemes known as Pradhan Mantri Kaushal Kendra (PMKK) for the skill development and entrepreneurship in the country. Under PMKK, Government intends to establish visible aspirational model training centres in every district of the country. This model training centres would create benchmark institution for demonstrating aspirational values for competency based skill development and entrepreneurship training. Till now, out of allocated 367 skill training centres for PMKK, 14 are operational with a target for providing training to 27840 candidates. The details of the training centres are given at Annexure I. Under PMKVY (2016-20), the Government has proposed to impart skilling to one crore people over next four years (April 2016 to March 2020) with an outlay Rs.12,000 crore. This scheme will impart fresh training to 60 lakh youths across the sectors and recognize and certify skills of 40 lakh persons acquired non-formally under the Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL). The Government has also notified Common Norms for central skill development schemes/ programmes. The Common Norms link 70% placement (both wage and self) with funding and performance of training partners in respect of skill development scheme/ programmes to encourage youths to become entrepreneurs.

(c) and (d) Yes Madam. In every district, one model skill development centre has been allocated for carrying out various skill training activities. Each district has been mapped to the respective parliamentary constituency. Under PMKK, 300 parliamentary constituencies across 367 districts have been covered. These centres are being promoted by private training providers with soft loan support from National Skill Development Corporation (NSDC). Under state engagement component of PMKVY (2016-20), 75% of the total financial target and corresponding physical targets shall be managed by the Ministry under Centrally Sponsored Centrally Managed (CSCM) and 25% of the financial and corresponding physical targets shall be allocated to the States under Centrally Sponsored State Managed (CSSM) for imparting skill training through PMKVY / PMKK centres.
